

Training Activities

Besides the didactic activities for the course of Signal Processing and Measurement Information, the LESIM provides support for the development of thesis works, post-degree and PhD research.